

HIDDEN GEMS AND FORGOTTEN PEOPLE

TIPPERARY TOWN CLANS HERITAGE SOCIETY

THE TAILOR

Jimmy Jones has carried on a tailoring business in Emmet Street, Tipperary, for the past sixty years. Now eighty years of age, he is the last of his profession still working in the Town where the craft of tailoring once flourished. He inherited the family business from his father and was proud to carry on the trade which his father had established. Now without a successor his passing will signal the end of an era in the Town.

Photos: Rosaleen Ryan

Text: Gerard Riordan